

The Florida Botanical Gardens Foundation TREE BANK

The Florida Botanical Gardens are home to a wide variety of plants from around the world. Botanical Gardens in general make sure each plant has a value to the collections. Whether that value is for teaching, interpretation, conservation or just for aesthetics, each and every specimen is carefully chosen and carefully placed. You will find most plants labeled, telling visitors more about the plants they are enjoying. The label gives the common name, scientific name and a quick overview of the things the plant need for best growth and health. Consider a minimum $10.00 donation to the Florida Botanical Gardens Foundation Tree Bank to help us plant more unusual specimens in these gardens.
