

Sand Pine

(Pinus clausa)

Sand Pine cones are covered in resin and need to be licked by flame in order to shed their seed.

Adapted to Burn!

Sand pines have short needles that burn easily, inviting fire into the crown where the cones are located. Fire ensures bare ground for the seedlings to develop.

